

The Wilhelm Busch Primary School Blankenfelde

Welcome to our homepage.

We are a medium-sized primary school with just over 300 pupils aged 6 till 12. There are two classes per year, from years one to six. We have 3 male and 15 female teachers.

The values which we seek to instil and uphold in our school were best said by former German president Roman Herzog:

“Let us create an educational system which encourages achievement, which leaves nobody excluded, and which imparts the joys of learning while itself being a learning system and as such continuously creative and developable.”

Taken from a speech calling for educational reform in Germany on 5th November 1997

This is what we are proud of:

- Creation of individual plans to support each pupil
- Anti-bullying, anti-cyber-mobbing and anti -violence training
- Junior traffic wardens
- Mediation programme
- Inter-class pupil guardianship
- Regional and cross regional sports competitions
- Science and language competitions
- Interactive whiteboards in all classrooms
- School sponsorship of a child in The Gambia/West Africa
- Junior explorers club
- Free play during breaks
- Yearbook documenting school life

Annual school highlights
